

Department	International College of Liberal Arts
Semester	Spring 2023	Year Offered (Odd/Even/Every Year)	Every Year
Course Number	ARTS210
Course Title	History of Art
Prerequisites	None
Course Instructor	STOCKER Sam	Year Available (Grade Level)	1
Subject Area	Interdisciplinary Arts: Arts	Number of Credits	3
Class Style	Lecture	Class Methods	Face to face

(NOTE 1) Class Methods are subject to change

(NOTE 2) Depending on the class size and the capacity of the facility, we may not be able to accommodate all students who wish to register for the course"

Course Description	Art has been a part of human expression for thousands of years, but our understanding and appreciation of art keeps changing. What we consider art today differs significantly from what people saw as art a hundred years ago. Even though art is a relatively new concept in human history, we've been expressing ourselves visually for tens of thousands of years. Through art, we can see how people showed their interests, beliefs, and stories. Art gives us a unique way to explore different cultures and their evolution. Art history is an important field that helps us understand how art reflects the beliefs and values of different societies and periods. It's not just about aesthetics and techniques; it also explores how art interacts with culture, politics, religion, and ideology. By studying art history, we can learn about the attitudes of different societies toward issues like gender, race, and class. It also shows us how art has been used as a tool for power and propaganda. Art history isn't limited to Western art. It includes a variety of cultures and civilizations across the world. By studying non-Western art, we can learn about different worldviews, cosmologies, and aesthetic traditions. Art history helps us appreciate the complexity and diversity of human experience and how cultures have influenced each other. Studying art history helps us understand how art reflects and shapes human experience, culture, and society. It's an essential tool for exploring our past and present and gaining a greater appreciation for the evolution of art throughout history. In this course, we will survey global art history and examine the contexts in which artworks were created.
Class plan based on course evaluation from previous academic year	The global art history survey course covers various topics, from prehistoric art to contemporary works. In addition to class lectures and discussions, we will also engage in collaborative visualizations related to the artworks covered. These activities will help us deepen our understanding of the course material and develop critical thinking skills. Throughout the course, students will be asked to select a particular artwork that resonates with them and write a paper that includes a visual analysis and contextual information about the work. To support this assignment, students will receive worksheets that guide them through critically evaluating the artwork and providing well-reasoned justifications for their selections.
Course related to the instructor's practical experience (Summary of experience)	Over the past 20 years, I have dedicated myself to studying, teaching, and creating art across a range of disciplines. My interest in art began early on, but it was a significant loss in my family that ultimately led me to pursue a career in the arts. Through my studies and teaching, I have developed expertise in art history, painting, sculpture, and graphic design. I continue to explore and experiment with different techniques and mediums in my own art-making practice. Overall, my journey in the arts has been both challenging and rewarding, and I look forward to continuing to learn, teach, and create in the years to come.

Learning Goals	To gain a comprehensive understanding of global art history from prehistoric times to contemporary art. To engage in critical thinking and analysis of artworks through class lectures, discussions, collaborative visualizations, and independent research. To develop skills in visual analysis and contextual interpretation of artworks. To encourage students to make meaningful personal connections to artworks and articulate their thoughts and ideas in writing. To provide students with tools and resources to support their independent learning and development in the field of art history
----------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

iCLA Diploma Policy	DP1/DP2/DP3
---------------------	-------------

iCLA Diploma Policy

(DP1) To Value Knowledge – Having high oral and written communication skills to be able to both comprehend and transfer knowledge

(DP2) To Be Able to Adapt to a Changing World – Having critical, creative, problem-solving, intercultural skills, global and independent mindset to adopt to a changing world

(DP3) To Believe in Collaboration – Having a disposition to work effectively and inclusively in teams

(DP4) To Act from a Sense of Personal and Social Responsibility – Having good ethical and moral values to make positive impacts in the world

Active Learning Methods	The course will incorporate a range of active learning methods to promote student engagement and critical thinking. Reading assignments will be assigned to deepen our understanding of the course material. Collaborative projects and presentations will provide opportunities for students to work together. Group discussions and debates will encourage the exchange of ideas and diverse perspectives. Visual analysis exercises will develop students' skills in interpreting and evaluating artworks. Brainstorming and mind mapping activities will foster creativity and innovative thinking. By participating in these active learning methods, students will be able to enhance their learning experience and develop a deeper appreciation for the history of art.
Use of ICT in Class	Please note that students will not have unrestricted access to ICT (Information and Communication Technology) in every class. While we encourage the use of technology for certain activities, such as research, note-taking, and collaborative projects, there may be occasions where it is not suitable or available due to logistical reasons. We appreciate your understanding and suggest that students bring alternative means of note-taking, such as pen and paper, to class
Use of ICT outside Class	Students will be required to use computers to complete class and homework assignments. These assignments may include research papers, visual presentations, and other multimedia projects. In addition, students will be expected to compile all of their coursework into a single slide presentation, which will serve as a final project for the semester. This presentation should showcase the students' mastery of the course material and demonstrate their critical thinking skills. We strongly recommend that students have access to their own device to ensure they can work on assignments both in class and at home
Expected study hours outside class	Students should expect to dedicate approximately 2 to 4 hours per week to reading assignments and completing class assignments. This includes any research or other preparation required for in-class activities, as well as homework assignments such as essays, visual presentations, and collaborative projects. While the amount of time required may vary depending on individual study habits and the complexity of the assignment, we recommend that students plan accordingly and budget their time wisely to ensure they can complete their work to the best of their ability. As always, if students have questions or need assistance, they should feel free to reach out to the instructor for guidance
Feedback Methods	If students have any questions or concerns, they are encouraged to contact the instructor by email at stocker.sam@c2c.ac.jp or to visit the instructor's office in F202 during office hours. The instructor is always happy to assist students and provide guidance on any aspect of the course, whether it be related to class material or assignments. Students should not hesitate to reach out for assistance, as the instructor is here to support them in their learning journey

Grading Criteria
Grading Methods	Grading Weights	Grading Content
Lecture notes	10%	notes taking in class on paper or note book
Artwork mind maps conceptual framework	20%	4 mind maps made as group work completed in class

Discussion Questions related to the textbook	20%	10 discussion questions given the end of some lectures
Visual analysis mind maps and	20%	4 mind maps made as group work and an individual sketch completed in class
Final History of art	30%	minimum 1500 word essay

Required Textbook(s)	The primary textbook for this art history course will be Gateways to Art: Understanding the Visual Arts, third edition. In addition to the assigned reading material, students will be provided with a suggested list of artworks to view and supplemental readings to deepen their understanding of the course material. These resources are intended to support students in their learning and enhance their appreciation of art history and visual culture.
Other Reading Materials/URL	Students are encouraged to use additional resources to further their research and understanding of art history. The Khan Academy and Smart History websites are valuable tools that will be used in class to supplement the course material. The Khan Academy website can be found at https://www.khanacademy.org/humanities/art-history and offers a wide range of resources for students to explore, including articles, videos, and interactive activities. These resources will enhance students' engagement with the course material and deepen their appreciation of the visual arts
Plagiarism Policy	Plagiarism is the dishonest presentation of the work of others as if it were one's own. Duplicate submission is also treated as plagiarism. Depending on nature of plagiarism you may fail the assignment or the course. Repeated act of plagiarism will be reported to the University which may apply additional penalties. It is important to note that while the use of language models is allowed, students must acknowledge when they have utilized it and should not submit an entire paper or discussion answer solely based on it. Furthermore, relying solely on language models will not replace the need for students to consult reliable sources and include a bibliography in their work. It is also worth emphasizing that practicing writing, reading, and visualizing on your own is crucial for your personal development and future career prospects.
Other Additional Notes	Participation in field trips to art galleries and museums or for research is highly encouraged in this course. By enrolling, students agree to allocate necessary funds for equipment or travel expenses, if deemed necessary

(NOTE 3) Class schedule is subject to change

Class Schedule
Class Number	Content
Class 1	Lesson 1 is an introductory class that provides an overview of the course and explores the fundamental question of "What is Art History?" Students will be encouraged to share their perspectives on this question and engage in a discussion about the different approaches to studying art history. By the end of the lesson, students will have a better understanding of what the course entails and the various concepts and techniques that they will be exploring throughout the semester.
Class 2	3.1.1The Prehistoric and Ancient Mediterranean 1 In this lesson, we will be focusing on prehistoric art. We will explore various examples of prehistoric art and discuss their significance and meaning. Our discussion will be based on the text book Gateways to Art: Understanding the Visual Arts, which provides a comprehensive survey of prehistoric art. By the end of this lesson, you will have gained a deeper understanding of the artistic expressions of prehistoric societies and their cultural contexts.

Class 3	Conceptual framework group Mind map 1 During this lesson, students will engage in a group mind mapping activity. The goal is to create a visual representation of the conceptual framework of prehistoric art. Working collaboratively, students will choose the artworks they feel best illustrate this period of time and add them to the mind map. This exercise will help students develop their critical thinking and visual analysis skills, as well as their ability to work collaboratively with others.
Class 4	3.1.2The Prehistoric and Ancient Mediterranean 2 Lesson 3.1.2 will delve deeper into the art of Mesopotamia and Ancient Egypt. We will examine the artistic traditions and styles of these civilizations, as well as the cultural and historical contexts in which the art was created. By the end of the lesson, students will have gained a deeper understanding of the art and architecture of these ancient civilizations
Class 5	3.1.3The Prehistoric and Ancient Mediterranean 3 Discussion question 1 In this class, students will delve into the fascinating art of Ancient Greece and Rome. We will explore the iconic works and styles that defined these civilizations and examine their cultural and historical significance. Additionally, we will kick off our first discussion question, which will prompt students to reflect on the art covered in Chapter 3.1 and share their insights and opinions with their peers
Class 6	Visual analysis sketch 1 In Visual Analysis Sketch 1, students will select an artwork from the Prehistoric and Ancient Mediterranean period and apply visual analysis questions to closely examine and interpret the work. Through this exercise, students will develop their analytical and critical thinking skills, as well as their ability to communicate their insights effectively.
Class 7	3.2 Art of the Middle Ages 1 Discussion questions In this class, we will explore the art of the Middle Ages, including the early Christian and Byzantine art. We will also discuss the role of art in religion and its function in society during this period. Additionally, we will introduce Discussion question 2, which will ask students to compare and contrast the art of the Prehistoric and Ancient Mediterranean period with the art of the Middle Ages. This will encourage students to critically examine the development of art and its significance in different historical contexts
Class 8	Conceptual framework group Mind map 2 During this lesson, students will engage in a group mind mapping activity. The goal is to create a visual representation of the conceptual framework of prehistoric art. Working collaboratively, students will choose the artworks they feel best illustrate this period of time and add them to the mind map. This exercise will help students develop their critical thinking and visual analysis skills, as well as their ability to work collaboratively with others.
Class 9	3.3 Art of India, China, Japan, and Southeast Asia 1 In this class, we will shift our focus to the art of India, China, Japan, and Southeast Asia. We will explore the cultural and religious influences that shaped the artistic traditions of these regions, including Hinduism, Buddhism, Confucianism, and Taoism. We will also examine the techniques and materials used in these works, such as ink painting, calligraphy, and ceramics.
Class 10	Visual analysis sketch 2 In Visual Analysis Sketch 2, students will select an artwork from the Art of India, China, Japan, and Southeast Asia and apply visual analysis questions to closely examine and interpret the work. Through this exercise, students will develop their analytical and critical thinking skills, as well as their ability to communicate their insights effectively.

Class 11	3.3 2 Art of India, China, Japan, and Southeast Asia 2 and Discussion question 3 Continuation from lesson 9. In this lesson, we will continue our exploration of the art of India, China, Japan, and Southeast Asia. We will delve deeper into the cultural and historical context of the art from these regions, and examine how it reflects the values and beliefs of the people who created it. Students will also be given the opportunity to engage in Discussion Question 5, which will focus on the themes and techniques present in the art we have studied so far. Additionally, we will explore the various art forms from these regions, including sculpture, painting, and calligraphy. Through our study of these art forms, we will gain a deeper understanding of the rich artistic traditions of these cultures
Class 12	Conceptual framework group Mind map 3 During this lesson, students will engage in a group mind mapping activity. The goal is to create a visual representation of the conceptual framework of prehistoric art. Working collaboratively, students will choose the artworks they feel best illustrate this period of time and add them to the mind map. This exercise will help students develop their critical thinking and visual analysis skills, as well as their ability to work collaboratively with others.
Class 13	3.4 Art of the Americas Discussion question 4 In this lesson, we will continue our exploration of the art of the Americas. We will delve deeper into the cultural and historical context of the art from these regions, and examine how it reflects the values and beliefs of the people who created it. Students will have the opportunity to engage in Discussion Questions 6 and 7, which will focus on the themes and techniques present in the art we have studied so far. Additionally, we will explore the various art forms from these regions, including sculpture, pottery, and textiles. Through our study of these art forms, we will gain a deeper understanding of the rich artistic traditions of the Americas.
Class 14	Visual analysis sketch 3 In Visual Analysis Sketch 3, students will select an artwork from the Americas and apply visual analysis questions to closely examine and interpret the work. Through this exercise, students will develop their analytical and critical thinking skills, as well as their ability to communicate their insights effectively.
Class 15	3.5 Art of Africa and the Pacific Islands 1 - Discussion questions 5 In this lesson, we will shift our focus to the art of Africa and the Pacific Islands. We will explore the diverse cultural and historical contexts that have shaped the art of these regions, and how it reflects the values and beliefs of the people who created it. Students will also be given the opportunity to engage in Discussion Question 5, which will focus on the themes and techniques. Additionally, we will examine various art forms from these regions, including sculpture, masks, textiles, and pottery. Through our study of these art forms, we will gain a deeper understanding of the unique artistic traditions and cultural heritage of Africa and the Pacific Islands.
Class 16	Conceptual framework group Mind map 4 During this lesson, students will engage in a group mind mapping activity. The goal is to create a visual representation of the conceptual framework of prehistoric art. Working collaboratively, students will choose the artworks they feel best illustrate this period of time and add them to the mind map. This exercise will help students develop their critical thinking and visual analysis skills, as well as their ability to work collaboratively with others.
Class 17	3.6 1 Art of Renaissance and Baroque Europe (1400-1750) In this lesson, we will shift our focus to the Art of Renaissance and Baroque Europe (1400-1750). We will explore the historical and cultural contexts that gave rise to some of the most iconic works of art from this period. From the early Renaissance to the Baroque era, we will examine the development of artistic techniques, styles, and themes that defined this period of European art. We will study the great masters of Renaissance art, such as Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo, and Raphael, and their contributions to the fields of painting, sculpture, and architecture. We will also examine the emergence of Baroque art and its unique style, characterized by drama, emotion, and grandeur. Through our analysis of various art forms, including frescoes, oil paintings, sculptures, and tapestries, we will gain a deeper understanding of the complex and layered meanings embedded within Renaissance and Baroque art. We will also explore how the social, political, and religious contexts of this period shaped the production and reception of art. Ultimately, our study of the Art of Renaissance and Baroque Europe will provide us with a profound appreciation for the aesthetic and cultural legacy of this era, and how it continues to influence art today.

Class 18	3.6 2 Art of Renaissance and Baroque Europe (1400-1750) 2 Discussion questions In this lesson, we will shift our focus to the Art of Renaissance and Baroque Europe (1400-1750). We will explore the historical and cultural contexts that gave rise to some of the most iconic works of art from this period. From the early Renaissance to the Baroque era, we will examine the development of artistic techniques, styles, and themes that defined this period of European art. We will study the great masters of Renaissance art, such as Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo, and Raphael, and their contributions to the fields of painting, sculpture, and architecture. We will also examine the emergence of Baroque art and its unique style, characterized by drama, emotion, and grandeur. Through our analysis of various art forms, including frescoes, oil paintings, sculptures, and tapestries, we will gain a deeper understanding of the complex and layered meanings embedded within Renaissance and Baroque art. We will also explore how the social, political, and religious contexts of this period shaped the production and reception of art. Ultimately, our study of the Art of Renaissance and Baroque Europe will provide us with a profound appreciation for the aesthetic and cultural legacy of this era, and how it continues to influence art today. Students will also be given the opportunity to engage in Discussion Question 6, which will focus on the themes and techniques
Class 19	Visual analysis sketch 4 In Visual Analysis Sketch 4, students will select an artwork from the Americas and apply visual analysis questions to closely examine and interpret the work. Through this exercise, students will develop their analytical and critical thinking skills, as well as their ability to communicate their insights effectively.
Class 20	3.7 Art of Europe and America, 1700-1865: Rococo to Realism. In this lesson, we will shift our focus to the Art of Europe and America, 1700-1865: Rococo to Realism. We will explore the rich artistic traditions that emerged during this period, and how they reflected the social, cultural, and political changes that swept across Europe and America. From the ornate and playful Rococo style to the stark realism of the mid-19th century, we will examine the evolution of artistic techniques, styles, and themes that defined this period of European and American art. We will also study the great artists of this era, including Jean-Honoré Fragonard, Jacques-Louis David and Francisco Goya. Through our analysis of various art forms, including paintings, sculptures, and prints, we will gain a deeper understanding of the complex and nuanced meanings embedded within Rococo, Neoclassical, Romantic, and Realist art. We will also explore how the social, economic, and political contexts of this period shaped the production and reception of art. Ultimately, our study of the Art of Europe and America, 1700-1865: Rococo to Realism, will provide us with a profound appreciation for the artistic and cultural legacy of this era, and how it continues to influence art today.
Class 21	Conceptual framework group Mind map 5 During this lesson, students will engage in a group mind mapping activity. The goal is to create a visual representation of the conceptual framework of prehistoric art. Working collaboratively, students will choose the artworks they feel best illustrate this period of time and add them to the mind map. This exercise will help students develop their critical thinking and visual analysis skills, as well as their ability to work collaboratively with others.
Class 22	Coursework session In this class I offer some guidance to help you succeed. This class is designed to help you develop a deeper understanding of the subject matter and improve your critical thinking skills. To succeed in this class, attend all classes, complete the assigned readings, ask questions, submit assignments on time, and seek feedback. If you're struggling, don't hesitate to seek help from me

Class 23	3.8 The Modern Aesthetic: Manet in 1863 to the American Scene in the 1930s In this lesson, we will shift our focus to The Modern Aesthetic: Manet in 1863 to the American Scene in the 1930s. We will examine the artistic styles and movements that emerged during this period, and how they reflected the social, cultural, and political changes that swept across Europe and America. From Édouard Manet's groundbreaking painting "Le Déjeuner sur l'herbe" to the emergence of Impressionism, Post-Impressionism, and Expressionism, we will explore the evolution of artistic techniques, styles, and themes that defined this period of art. We will also study the great artists of this era, including Vincent van Gogh, Paul Cézanne, Henri Matisse, and Edward Hopper. Through our analysis of various art forms, including paintings, sculptures, and photography, we will gain a deeper understanding of the complex and nuanced meanings embedded within modern art. We will also explore how the social, economic, and political contexts of this period shaped the production and reception of art. Ultimately, our study of The Modern Aesthetic: Manet in 1863 to the American Scene in the 1930s will provide us with a profound appreciation for the artistic and cultural legacy of this era, and how it continues to influence art today. 1 Discussion questions
Class 24	Visual analysis sketch 4 In Visual Analysis Sketch 4, students will select an artwork from the Americas and apply visual analysis questions to closely examine and interpret the work. Through this exercise, students will develop their analytical and critical thinking skills, as well as their ability to communicate their insights effectively.
Class 25	3.9 Late Modern and Contemporary Art: From Abstract Expressionism in the 1940s to the Present Day. Discussion questions 9 In this lesson, we will shift our focus to Late Modern and Contemporary Art: From Abstract Expressionism in the 1940s to the Present Day. We will explore the various artistic styles and movements that emerged during this period and how they reflected the cultural, social, and political changes of the times. From the emergence of Abstract Expressionism and Color Field painting to the rise of Pop Art and Conceptual Art, we will examine the evolution of artistic techniques, styles, and themes that defined this period of art. We will also study the great artists of this era, including Jackson Pollock, Mark Rothko, Andy Warhol, and Cindy Sherman. Through our analysis of various art forms, including paintings, sculptures, installations, and new media, we will gain a deeper understanding of the complex and nuanced meanings embedded within contemporary art. We will also explore how the social, economic, and political contexts of this period shaped the production and reception of art. Discussion questions 9
Class 26	Essay Individual work In this art history class, we have explored the rich history of human artistic expression across various cultures and periods. From the prehistoric cave paintings to the contemporary art forms of today, we have studied the diverse range of styles, techniques, and movements that have defined the world of art. By examining the cultural, social, and political contexts that shaped the production and reception of art, we have gained a deeper understanding of its impact on society. Throughout the course, we have analyzed various art forms, including paintings, sculptures, installations, and other mediums, to understand their significance and aesthetic value. This paper will build on our class discussions and explore the artistic legacy of a particular era, artist, or movement. We will analyze various art forms and examine their historical and cultural significance.
Class 27	3.10 Late Modern and Contemporary Art: From Abstract Expressionism in the 1940s to the Present Day 2 Discussion questions In this lesson, we will shift our focus to Late Modern and Contemporary Art: From Abstract Expressionism in the 1940s to the Present Day. During this period, the art world underwent a significant transformation, and we will explore the various artistic styles and movements that emerged as a result. We will start with the emergence of Abstract Expressionism, which represented a dramatic departure from traditional art forms. We will also study the development of Pop Art and its impact on the art world. We will examine the rise of Conceptual Art, which challenged conventional notions of art and its role in society. We will also explore the use of new media and technology in contemporary art. Through our analysis of various art forms, including paintings, sculptures, installations, and new media, we will gain a deeper understanding of the complex and nuanced meanings embedded within contemporary art. We will also explore how the social, economic, and political contexts of this period shaped the production and reception of art. Ultimately, our study of Late Modern and Contemporary Art: From Abstract Expressionism in the 1940s to the Present Day will provide us with a profound appreciation for the artistic and cultural legacy of this era and how it continues to influence art today.

Class 28	Coursework In this class I offer some guidance to help you succeed. This class is designed to help you develop a deeper understanding of the subject matter and improve your critical thinking skills. To succeed in this class, attend all classes, complete the assigned readings, ask questions, submit assignments on time, and seek feedback. If you're struggling, don't hesitate to seek help from me.
Class 29	Essay Individual work Writing a paper on art history requires a deep understanding of the topic and a thorough analysis of the artwork, artist, or era that you are studying. The goal of this class is to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to write a well-researched and thought-provoking art history paper.
Class 30	Essay Individual work Writing a paper on art history requires a deep understanding of the topic and a thorough analysis of the artwork, artist, or era that you are studying. The goal of this class is to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to write a well-researched and thought-provoking art history paper.